FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Oprah Network is on Eagle Communications Television

January 7, 2011 (Hays, Kansas)- Eagle Communications has Oprah's new network.

OWN, the new Oprah Winfrey Network is now on Eagle Digital channel 106 and has shows designed to entertain, inform, and inspire people to live their best lives. Programming includes weekly daytime and primetime series, specials, movies, and original documentaries. Discovery Health favorites such as Mystery Diagnosis and Deliver Me will also air new episodes on OWN.

"We have had as much interest about Oprah's new network as any programming," said Travis Kohlrus, Eagle Communications Broadband Director of Community Relations and Product Development. "We are excited to have OWN available for our Digital customers."

Eagle Communications, Inc. is a Kansas-based Broadband Services and Media Company with over 250 employee-owners. The company operates 25 radio stations in Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri as well as cable TV systems in 32 Kansas and Colorado communities. The company also offers e-business solutions, web hosting, telephone service, high-speed Internet, and wireless Internet in most service areas.
